Jusserand, the French Ambassador, participated.

Secretary Moody spoke of the equality of all men before the law, and held that the laws which are enforced equally for and against all should be respected by all. The remedy for any wrong should be sought under the law and in the courts, which rep resent the majesty of the people's will Any departure from this sound principle in any part of the land is a contempt not only of the courts themselves but of the people who have created the courts. "Mob violence puts every man's rights to the doubtful determination of men inflamed by passionate resentment and maddened by the thirst for revenge, renders our voice feeble when raised against oppression else where and displays a barbarity which shames the nation in the face of the world. Let these people, whose Government has been called a Government of laws and not of men, fix on those who hold themselves above the law and wiser than the law, the seal of their condemnation."

In conclusion, Mr. Moody touched on the ecessity of honesty in the public service "There is," he said, "no disease of the body politic so subtle, so powerful, so dangerous, so fatal, as the corrupt betrayal of a public trust, whether the trust be great or small. He could not but believe he said, that in the main those who do the people's work are honest and true, but when the malignant ulcer of corruption appears it is no time for surface treatment. The knife must reach under the very polsonous root that each may be cut and cast away. He asked that we do not believe charges that are made lightly, "Let them," the Secretary said, "be in restigated with the calm impartiality of a court of law; but if the offense be played let the displeasure of the people come like a thunderbolt from on high. Let not the hands of justice be stayed or its edicts be tempered with a misguided mercy."

MRS. LUCY M. COOPER, 79 Carlton Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y., Gained Four Pounds a Week, Thanks to

"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the past 18 years, and can truthfully say it has cured me on several occasions of the grip, and once of a severe attack of rheumatism. I gained in strength and fiesh, gaining four pounds a week. I believe if any one used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey they would not have any serious filmess. It will keep off a cold or cure one. I am 61 years old, and don't look more than 42. I have recommended it to many of my friends and all say it helped them, and are satisfied with its benefits. I think it the finest stimulant in the world, and would not be without it."
